TALKS UNDERWAY FOR ONE VOICE FOR ACCOMMODATION SECTOR

Negotiations are underway to create one united voice for the accommodation industry nationwide.

Australian Hotels Association (AHA) President Scott Leach and Accommodation Association of Australia (AAoA) President Julian Clark said the AHA, Tourism Accommodation Australia and AAoA were working on creating a united voice for the struggling sector.

“A small working party representing all of the associations has been put together to work on a new model representing one clear national voice for the accommodation sector,” Mr Clark said.

“This working party has been meeting behind the scenes, is making progress and we remain confident of finally bringing the AHA, TAA and AAoA together at this crucial time for our industry,” Mr Leach said.
